soul of the city is Soil of the city

- * be with you wherever you go. always
- * it is there even if you do not want
- * can also be found at your home

The hero of the pavilion - soil - is presented as bright coloured powder, to emphasize and make it seen.

The floor of the pavilion is covered with harmless and bright food colour. The base of the floor is high textured material that allows the colour to stay.

Visitors are walking through the floor and some of the soil is sticking on their shoes. And it comes with them for some time. Like soil in the city.

Walls of the pavilion are plank white with text seen on picture.

Visitors can take with them a piece of Baltic soil - food colour in little plastic bag - it could be used the way visitor want to or even eat.
